LATE AUTUMN'S SOCIAL JOYS.

Beginning the Season's Round of Pleasant Festivities.

MOVEMENTS OF WELL KNOWN PEOPLE. Celebrating Their Silver Wedding-A Dancing Party at "Loravilla"-Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Richard-

There are few occasions more rare than a golden wedding in Omaha, and such an event in our city is still more unusual when the bride and groom come all the way from Pennsylvania for the occasion.

son's Dinner Party.

Such was the case, Tuesday, October 6. when Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Doud of Scranton, Pa., received the congratulations of their nearest of kin, who had gathered at the residence of Mr. H. A. Doud, on Twentyfifth street, to rejoice in the good Providence that had smiled upon two hearts during fifty years of married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Doud had come to this city only a few days ago to make an extended visit with relatives here and in Nebraska City, their oldest daughter, Mrs. W. L. Wilson, having resided in the latter place nearly twenty years, and two sons, Mr. Curtis W. Doud and Mr. Herbert A. Doud, having re-sided in Omaha for five and eleven years respectively.

There were present, in addition to those al-ready named, Mr. Erastus S. Doud, the only other son living, who had come from Hazle-ton, Pa., to attend this joyous anniversary celebration; also Colonel W L. Wilson of Nebraska City, whose marriage with the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doud was solbempized just twenty-two years after that of her parents, thus rendering October 6 a double anniversary; also Mrs. H. A. Doud, her father, E. W. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. W.V. Doolittle and Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, relatives of the "bridal party." The grand relatives of the "order party." The grand-children were, with one exception, necessa-rily absent, being for the most part at school in distant cities. One little child, however, graced the occasion, in the person of Ralph, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Doud. It was the wish of the aged couple that the happy event be marked only by a quiet reunion of their own family, with other kinsmen near at hand, and it will doubtless be remembered with special interest for many a year by those who could thus witness the turning of a golden milestone in wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Doud were married in the town of their birth, East Guilford, Conn., a historic village which the two families thus united, the Douds and the Scrantons, had already known as the ancestral home for 200 years. For the past forty years Mr. and Mrs. Doud have resided in Scranton, Pa., a city founded by and named in honor of Mrs. d's immediate kinsmen. The golden wedding dinner was characterized by several features of interest, the room being tastefully and appropriately decorated by loving hands with various flowers of a golden hue, from both prairie and hot-house, with festions of smilax, bows of golden ribbons, and banks of golden nasturtiums. The white satin slippers of the bride of fifty years, filled with golden pansies, and a dainty plush case of the same color, in which had been arranged gold coin of various nations and denominations, as a token of esteem to the favored couple, graced the dinner table, and with the souvenir books, inscribed with names and dates, found at each plate, were calculated to divide interest with a very carefully prepared menu.

A Silver Celebration.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Brad D. Slaughter celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their pretty home at 2024 Wirt street, Kountze Place, surrounded by friends who have been acquainted with the host and hosters for twenty years and upwards.

The home of the United States marshal for the district of Neoraska was beautifully decorated with smilax, paims and cut flowers. The mantels were banked with roses and everywhere the good taste of the decorator was shown. Although the night was theroughly disagreeable it did not deter a large number of Mr. and Mrs. Staughter's inti mates from being present and participating in the joy of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter received their guests in the south parlor, and were assisted by their four accomplished daughters, Mrs. F. M. Glimore of South Dakota, Mrs. Wheeler of Lincoln, Miss Grace Slaughter and Miss Alice Slaughter. After the host and hostess had received the congratulations of their guests and were brought more than ever to the appreciation of the pleasures which had been vouchsafed them in their quarter of a century of married life, Miss Anna Parker, who fills the chair of elecution at Cotner university, Lin-coln, recited in her most delightful way, "The Child Wife," "Larry O'Dee" and "The Bobolink," Miss Parker is an exceedingly handsome woman and one who would con mand attention no matter in what assembly she might be thrown, even among the sisters of Sorosis. Mays Grace Slaughter, just re-turned from college, also assisted in enter-taining the company with several plane selections, while the young gentlemen present sang several vocal numbers.

At 11 o'clock delicious refreshments were Among those present were Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Maxfield, Rev. and Mrs. W. K. Beans, Judge and Mrs. Macomber, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, Judge J. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, Judge and Mrs. Faucett, Mr. Elworth Faucett, the Misses Faucett, Mr. and Mrs. Ben. S. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. McCune, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. J. McClain, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Fowler, Mrs. Judge Shields, Mrs. M. J. McKoon, Mrs. Stickney, Mr. A. M. Clark, Miss Minnio Clark, Mr. Will and Frank McCune, Miss Jule McCune, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Brint, Mrs. Wyatt, Misses Oilie and Ruth Weller, Mr. Harry Weller, Mr. D. H. Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown. The following and Mrs. Henry Brown. The following Lincoln guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wheeler, Mr. Tom M. Cooke, Mr. Charles Miller, Miss Amena Parker.

In honor of the sixth anniversary of their marriage Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Richardson gave, Wednesday evening, one of the prettiest dinners that has been given in social circles this season. While there was no attempt at elaborateness, throughout it was beautifully appointed, and is yet the talk of those who were fortunate to be guests. There is no pleasanter way of celebrating these milestones in the lives of two people than to collect about them gentle friends to join in well wishes for the future, over the "wal picture in its snowy linen and wealth of cut glass and silverware. Pink and white candles shed a soft subdued light, while beautiful bows of la France and Niphetos roses gave a touch of celor to the board. Mr. Richardson, not to be outdone by the ability of Mrs. Richardson, in the line of decorative effect, contributed the plate cards, dainty souvenirs of the occasion in black and white. They were bizarre in effect and showed that Mr. Richardson was quite as much at home in drawing as he is in interpreting the statutes of Nebraska for warring clients. Distinctive subjects were chosen for each guest. Mrs. Elia W. Peattie's card in the upper left hand corner contains the title page of the Century magazine, in honor of her poem which ap-peared ir that publication last month, in the lower right hand corner was the suggestive bottle of ink and quill pen, emblems of the bottle of ink and quill pen, emblems of the oraft. Mr. Peattle was dignified as "l'Edi crait. Mr. Peattle was dignified as "PEditeur" upon a series of newspapers grouped artistically in the upper left hand corner, while the bottle of ink and quill pen were increased with a mucilage bottle and scissors. Each card was a gem and quite worthy of being put away with other souvenirs of happy events. The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins, Mr. and Mrs. J. French Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Hussey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peattle and the host and hostess completed those who gathered around the hard pleted those who gathered around the ban-quet board.

Beckett and Bonner. Wednesday noon, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bonner, the marriage of Miss Elia Bonner and Mr. William D. Beckett

The rooms had been prettily decorated with palms, golden rod and autumn leaves by the hands of the bride's schoolmates, a few of whom were present to witness the first marriage in their class which graduated from the hall from November 16 to December 9. This Mrs. Lyman Richardson. Omaha High school last June. Miss Bonner. one of its most brilliant members, will be remembered as the young girl who carried off first honors at the class commencement. She was married in her graduating gown of India silk, made entraine, and wore roses her hair and about her neck, groom's present, a golden heart set with diamonds. She is an unusually attractive and lovely girl, and very fair to look upon. The bridegroom is a rising young lawyer of this city. He is also well known in Chicago literary circles. After the ceremony the daintest of wedding breakfasts was served. There was no formality or stiffness, but the heartiest of congraturations and good wishes and the orightest of faces.

The young couple left for the south in the afternoon, and will be gone about one month.

Conservatory Notes. The Conservatory of Music with headquarters in the New York Life building is enjoying a very satisfactory year, all the classes being well represented. Friend's Music and Drama (New York) has this to say of the conservatory: "The fall term of the Omaha Conservatory of Music commenced September 7 with largely increased patronage. Excellent opportunities offered by this institution are attracting attention throughout the west, and it bids fair at no distant day to become a strong competitor for the older eastern conserva-tories. Sig Auguste Fusco, on the recommendation of Adelina Patti and others, has assumed the management of the vocal de-partment, and is meeting with great success. Omaha is fortunate in this new accession to ber musical ranks, as he is one of the recognized leaders and teachers of Europe.

Surprised Their Friend. Last Wednesday evening Mr. J. P. Hen derson and wife of the Union Depot hotel, corner of Eleventh and Mason streets, were agreeably surprised by about one hundred of their friends coming in and registering at about 8:30. Mr. Henderson insisted on saying there were no vacant rooms in the house, but the dining room was cleared and music procured, and dancing commenced, the parors up stairs being converted into card rooms. The host and hostess were spellbound, and until midnight it looked as if the hotel had been turned into an amusement hall. At that hour lunch was served, after which the guests departed. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stuht, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. N. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Tuzer, C. E. Kate Field's Address.

Kate Field will address the members and friends of the Western Art association at the Lininger gailery Tuesday evening, October 13. As the talented lady will speak upon a subject of universal interest, the people of Omaha should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to one of the brightest minds of the country. Kate Field, editor and essayist, has won a wide world reputa-tion as an original and forcible writer. She has the power of convincing her audiences with the carnestness of her purpose, and it is due to her reputation that a high compliment be paid her by the attendance of our best ctizens next Tuesday evening. There will be other prominent speaker: in attend-ance, and to make it still more enjoyable an impromptu reception will be accorded the distinguished visitor by Mr. Lininger, the president of the association.

A Fort Reception.

A very delightful reception was given Thursday evening by General and Mrs. Brooke to honor of Major and Mrs. Worth of Fort Omaha. A Rose Tea.

Mrs. O. H. Curtis gave a very dainty rose tea Thursday from 5 to 7 o'clock in honor of her guest, Miss Emma Westwick of Galena, Ili. The house was prettily decorated in honor of the afternoon, while roses were everywhere noticeable. At each cover beautiful la France roses were placed, which in addition to the smilax, the cut glass and the china made a very pretty picture. A beautiful souvenir menu card, hand painted, each card being different in design, was presonted to each guest.

And a dozen of the prettiest young ladies of Omaha were present to enjoy the delight—

New York and Philadelphia Book Jealers Done by a Smooth Man. New York, Oct. 10.-A young man walked into McHale's book store, 830 Broadway, yesterday and produced a photograph of General Stonewall Jackson. On the back of it, in the general's handwriting was, "Dear Mary, God has crowned our arms with success, This day General White and 11,000 prisoners are ours. I send you my picture. Yours as ever, T. J. Jackson." The young man told the following story: "I was employed in tearing down Jackson's house some years back and came across some old papers, this photograph among them. The family gave me a reward of $50 for the letters and allowed me to keep the photograph. I have been out of work for a long time now and shall be glad to take $1 for the relic. I want to go to Philadelphia and have only 50 cents. With $1 I can beat my way there easily.

Upon a comparison of the signature with one of Jackson's it appeared to be all right, and the purchase was consummated. A brief consultation between the partners was held and they decided to give the poor fellow his car fare to Philadelphia, and now they are wishing they haun't. The message was a forgery. The game was evidently a profitable one, however, and the next day the same young man wandered into the book store of A. S. Clark, on Park Row, and this time went for higher grme. He bad, he said, Mr. Jackson's pocket bible, which he easily enough sold to Mr. Clark, who also gave more than was asked. The bible is commonly beautily and leather with plants and leather. bound in old leather, with clasps, and bears the general's autograph in several places. On the blank leaf between the old and new testaments is written: "Though the clouds be dark and lowering, yet I pray God be with T. J. Jackson, Chancellorville, May 2,

Mr. Clark who was caught took the young man to a notary public in the same building where an affidavit was drawn up and sworn to by the bible seller, declaring that the bible sold Mr. A. S. Clark was the property of the seller's grandfather, Mr. M. Chance!-

icr, of Chancellorsville, Va.

Jackson otherwise known as "Stonewall" Jackson (of the Coefederate army) was brought into Chancellor's house dangerously wounded on the evening of the first days fight at Chancellorsville his continues to the complete the surgeous to better was taken off to enable the surgeons to better attend to his wounds. In taking off the coat the young man declared this bible fell to the floor and was preserved by his grandfather.

"I also, he added, was present at the time and know the facts "to be true as herein stated. The bible has never been out of the possession of the family from the time when it passed into the keeping of my grandfather He signed the affidavit: "Thomas Thomas Chancellor thereupon departed in great glee. The game was an easy one. Up town he went and interviewed Mr. Walsh of 1396 Broadway. A similar bible was sold to him. The story told Mr. Walsh was that Chancellor was "dead broke," had beaten his way down from Alband, where his father's watch was pawned for $3.50, and where his trunk was held for board. Tears flowed as trunk was held for board. Tears nowed as he described the sorrow the parting with the watch gave his warm southern heart. With the money obtained from the sale of the bible he would go right back and redeem the prec-ious relic. Instead of aloing so, after selling his bible to Walsh, he proceeded across town to Mr. Homoroes' book store, in Third avenue. Mr. Hembree fell into the trap and became the happy possessor of another Jackson bible. Mr. Hembree refused to sell it any price, saying that Mrs. Jackson was the only person enti-tled to it and that it should be sent to her free of charge. Still another copy was so'd to Peter Gilsey, who thought he had a treas-ure indeed. Then Mr. Woodward, the vet-eran book soller of Nassau atreet, bought a bible. The mine has not yet played out. Mr. Chancellor wended his way to Phimelelphia, where he succeeded in disposing of three copies more to dealers there before the fraud was detected.

All the dealers who have been taken in All the dealers who have been taken in declare the forgeries to be excellent. They were further deceived by the reductance with which Mr. Chancellar took the extra cosh given him. He professed the profoundest ignorance of New York geography and asked to be directed to Des Brossy street ferry.

Inspector Byrnes has been notified and will keep a loogout for the warm hearted young man from Chancellersville. This is Mr. Walsh's second experience with sharpers this week and he is prepared to make it interesting for Mr. Chancellor if he is met interesting for Mr. Chancellor if he is met with again. One interesting point about the bible was the copious marking of passages which might reasonably be expected to have been of interest to the general. It is thought by most of the dealers victimized that Chancellor-if that is his name-did really have General Jackson's bible and fluding there was so much eagerness to get it made these eight or ten copies and sold them to every-body who would nite.

The remarks supposed to have been written by Stonewall Jackson are certainly characteristic enough to have been genuine. Dr. Birney cures catarrh. Bee bldg.

STRANGE STORY FROM MEXICO. Remarkable Natural Phenomenon

Witnessed by a Traveling Man. CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 10.-Viesconte Louiza, an tagent of a sewing machine company whose headquarters are in Tolucaloya, came to this city yesterday and tells a most remarkable story. He says he had occasion to visit a town twenty-five leagues south of Tolucalaya, and last Monday a small moun-tain or high hill, about half way between the tawns of Tenancingo and Tecualoya, with-out warning, exploded with a most terrific report and immediately an immense volume of water commenced to flow from the newly ormed crater and inundated much of the surrounding country. The Indians fled to the hills and the church bells in the surrounding villages were rung violently. A general panic ensued. The water soon found its level and poured through a gorge 150 feet deep and continued so to flow until the pert deep and continued so to flow until the next day when Mr. Loaiza left. The inhabitants roach the stream Loaiza did not take the temperature of the water, but supposes it was hot, as he saw vapor rising from it on a warm day. The volume of the water was so great that it carried away two high bridges which crossed the ravine far above high water line. The crater formed by the explosion was quite arge, and rock and earth were scattered far and wide. Loaiza is not a scientific man, but is intelligent and is one of the most successful salesmen of the company by which he is regarded as a thoroughly reliable man.

American Dudes Who Patronize For-

New YORK, Oct. 10 .- At a recent meeting of the Merchant Tailors society a resolution was adopted condemning the practice of certain Americans who go to England every year for their supplies of clothing and then bring it into this country in trunks, to avoid the payment of duties. As officer of the or ganization said to a reporter yesterday: Fully $450,000, paid for custom made cloth-ing, is brought into this country yearly in this way. During July and August London tailors were running full time while those in this city were practically idle, owing to this insane craze for goods made in Europe. Santa Fr., N. M., Oct. 10-A deal was consummated here today whereby R. C. Kerens of St. Louis, S. B. Elkins of West Virginia and several millionaire coal barons, who control the principal coal properties of Missouri, Kansas and Texas, secure control of the Cerrillos Coal and Iron company and elected F. W. Risque of St. Louis superintendent.

The property of the company consists of 20,000 acres of land, twenty miles south of this city, which are seamed in all directions with anthracite and bituminious coal, iron, silver and lead and other mineral deposits. Cerillos is now shipping 600 cars of coal a month, but under the operations of this com-pacy the output will shortly be increased to as many car loads per week. This deal is also expected to have a direct bearing on the extension of the Denver & Rio Grand road hrough Santa Fe to Cerillos and on to Al-

Uncle Sam Needs to Give His Naval Officers a Few Instructions. NEW YORK, Oct. 10 .- The Despatch left New York yesterday, bound out for Washington, D. C., under command of Lieutenant Cowles, and had her full complement of men on board. Immediately after leaving New York the steamship ran into foul weather. The bad wind and ugiy sea running kept the steamship under the coast in order to escape bad weather. bad fog came up with nightfall, and so the Despatch slowed down considerably, although even at that she was going at fair speed. The weather continued to grow worse and the vessel struck head on. mmediately a sea swept her about broadside to the shore. The Despatch's commander im-mediately let go her anchors, but they did not hold until after the waves had beat her well up onto the shoals.

It is impossible to say what damage was done the Dispatch. Communication with the

NEAL'S FUNERAL.

The Murderer's Remains Interred in the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. The funeral of Ed Neal, the legally executed murderer of Allan and Dorothy Jones, took place at 9 o'clock yesterday from St Philomena's cathedral. Shortly before that time the casket containing the remains the victim of avenging justice was placed in a hearse at Heafey & Heafey's undertaking establishment, and followed by three empty carriages was taken to the church. The mourners, and they were only three in number, consisting of Jo Clark and two of her associates in sin, went direct from their residence to the church.

There was a large audience present, principally women, drawn thither by curiosity to see, not Neal, as the casket was not opened, but the Clark woman whose dis-play of affection for the dead murderer had brought into very general no-toriety.

Mass was said by Rev. Father Rigge, and at the close the casket was again borne to the hearse. The pall bearers were four back drivers, three of them in their usual livery of green coats and bright buttons. The "Here she comes" and "Wait and see her" were all directed toward the Clark woman, who attracted the attention of all present. She was dressed in mourning, and tears filled her eyes us she passed down the aisle and took her seat beside her companions in the carringe.

But two backs followed the remains to Hely Sepulcher cometery, where interment took place. The first was occupied by the man and the other by Fathers McCarty The funeral attracted very little attention
